“Aspen National Collections will work every account assigned to a conclusion.”

Aspen's motto was established in 1999 by John Brewer, Arthur Waloch and Mike Seuell. This philosophy allows Aspen to maximize recovery of delinquent portfolios without utilizing heavy-handed tactics that generate owner complaints. Clients may log into our system 24 hours a day and view collector notes, calls made, etc., in order to insure that all accounts are being worked thoroughly and are not being “creamed” or “skimmed.”

In addition, Aspen National Collections assigns dedicated customer service representatives to handle its more than 150 resort clients individually. This allows us to build a bond of trust with our clients and enables us to efficiently handle direct payments made, cancellation of accounts, disputes, etc.

Aspen National Collections is licensed, bonded, and insured. Aspen makes its headquarters on the west coast of Florida. Aspen maintains its original offices and collectors in Grand Junction, CO to allow for complete time zone coverage for past due accounts throughout North America.

Aspen National Collections is an ARDA Trustee, Chairman's League member and longtime sponsor of ARDA's regional management seminars.
